Election Signage 101

---

The following fact sheet outlines the requirements in relation to the location and construction of election signs on local government controlled roads. For requirements on state controlled roads visit the Department of Transport and Main Roads website.

WHAT ARE ELECTION SIGNS?

Election signs are any free-standing advertising device identifying candidates and/or promoting a political party at local, state or federal government elections.

ELECTION SIGNAGE MUST:

Display Period

- Not be erected or displayed until the election has been officially announced.
- Be removed within seven days of the election polling day.

Construction

- Be no greater than 0.6m<sup>2</sup> in size.
- Be made from material that can withstand normal weather conditions without being damaged or destroyed whilst still being frangible for disposal purposes.
- Not rotate or be illuminated or flashing.
- Not use reflective or fluorescent materials.
- Have clearly printed on it the name and address of the person who authorised the display.
- Not contravene and law of the State of Queensland or the Commonwealth of Australia relating to electoral advertising. (Electoral Act 1992 and Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918).

DISCLAIMER

Candidates should note that council is not responsible for the regulation of the printed content and format of any electoral signs. All candidates are encouraged to contact the election Returning Officer or the relevant electoral authority prior to the production of any electoral signage to ensure that compliance with the appropriate electoral advertising regulations and standards is met.

Location

- Be located so as not to distract motorists, cyclists or pedestrians; restrict sight distances on approaches to intersections; obstruct the view of road traffic signs; or otherwise impact on safety.
- Not be located on a motorway, freeway or roads of a similar standard.
- Be located at least 3.5 metres from the edge of the nearest traffic lane on roads where the speed limit is 80kmh or less.
- Be located at least six metres from the edge of the nearest traffic lane on roads where the speed limit is over 80kmh.
- Not be located on centre medians or roundabouts.

LIABILITY REQUIREMENTS

The candidate accepts liability for any claims arising from the placement of elections signage.

Placement

- Not be attached to vegetation or council infrastructure (for example, trees, vegetation, road signs, guard rails, etc).
- Be located as close as practicable to the property boundary.
- Not hinder the flow of traffic, protrude over the road or interfere with the road's operation (this includes a person holding or waving an election sign).
- Not obstruct pedestrians and cyclists (including people using a mobility device).
- Be secured so that the signage will not become airborne and damage persons or property.

SAFETY FIRST

Queensland laws cover the placement and type of election signs that can be placed beside a road.

These laws are necessary to ensure:

- Road users are not distracted by the signs.
- Road users (pedestrian, bicycle and vehicle) have a clear line of vision.
- Pedestrian and vehicular movements are not impeded.
- Official road signs are not obstructed.
